“ For 35 years.. my life was all about Ian. The pregnancy the birth, the surgeries, the ADHD and every single day since he was conceived, I thought about him, I prayed about him, I yelled about him, I cried about him, I missed him, and mostly... I loved him, intensely unequivocally and without measure.

We had our ups.. we had our downs. and a few in-between times.. Out of all the people and personalities that there are and I've met in this world...

Man he was something!!!

Something really special and I thought I was the only one that knew..

I'm not really sure I'm going to make it without him .. but I'm gonna try.. 😭

He was my world and I was his momma..

Now I'm just lost.
