“ Before Aunt Phyllis had her first big surgery I was in the hospital at the time and felt I just needed to talk to her so I called. We laughed together about the hospital experience and lots of things about surgery for well over an hour. I decided to send her my Sir Hugs A lot Bear, it is designed to squeeze it to your incision when you cough or anytime the muscles in the area move to help relieve the pain. Uncle Chuck Ludwig saw her just before she passed and she still had the bear and told him the story. I felt that in some small way I was with her, it still to this day makes me emotional to think of her with that old bear. Bill and I loved her dearly, she was a very special person.

“ My Aunt Phyllis was only one month older than me so we were more like sisters when we were together. My sister Joanne, Phyllis and I referred to each other as YaYa after the movie YaYa sisterhood. Phyllis touched a lot of people, she was easy to talk to and joke around with. We will miss her and cherish the memories of our times together. Rest easy YaYa I love you.
