Today the world is not as bright as it was. Stacey's great smile and enthusiasm are memories we will always have. It was too soon and I know she is in the heavens above. Craig, the Gamble family and all of Stacey's friends are missing her terribly. May you all have solace in the radiance she showered on us all.

“ I have been missing you both on your morning walk as I ride by on the bike. Not enough couples have the glow that you guys have - the glow of love. Craig you have been blessed and though grief is consuming keep that smile and thoughts of the good times. Remember a walk or a bike ride is always good for the soul! God bless your kind and caring Stacey.

“ I left the house crying this morning thinking of all I would miss without you our Dear Stacey. Within minutes the world of crazy drivers took me away into frustration and the realization that maybe you are in a better place, leaving us to deal with humanity on our own no longer privy to your humor, non-judgment and love. I do wish for you Stacey that better place, a place that will be even better because you are in it. A place where hopefully I will see you again.
With love for You, Craig and Your Family

“ Stacey always brought a smile to my face and I felt more lighthearted after being around her. Times around the fire pit laid back with conversations and laughter, taking about her butterfly and bird garden, sharing her kale soup recipe (I make it all the time) and talking about and loving on her furbabies. We now have one more angel in heaven and I know we will meet again.
